BOARD OF TRADE

Very Important Matters Discussed at Last Night's Session

This body held a large and enthusiastic meeting last night in the council chamber to consider and take action on the meeting of the county commissioners' good roads association of the state, which will take place in Ocala June 19th.

In the absence of President Jake Brown, Vice President H. C. Groves took the chair and dispatched business very expeditiously and effectively.

On motion, the chair appointed Secretary Bittinger, Mayor Fishel and E. P. Thagard a committee to make the necessary arrangements and secure the funds required to show our visiting brethren the good roads Marion now prides herself on and the efficient system our board of county commissioners has put into operation to build the same.

Commissioner E. L. Wartmann, of Citra, requested the mayor to head the list with $5 for him.

Fourth of July Festivity

The Fourth of July celebration was then taken up and all present called on for suggestions of plans to make the occasion interesting and entertaining. Various schemes were suggested, including a fiddlers' convention, horse swapping contest and horse races.

After the ground had been gone over, the following program was authorized, with power for the committees to alter it or add to it as deemed advisable before the program is issued to the public. To begin with, the secretary was requested to invite, as the orators of the day, Congressmen S. M. Sparkman and R. W. Davis, two of the most popular national legislators Florida ever had and both fluent, magnetic and eloquent speakers.

Base ball was deemed an essential feature in "flying the bird of freedom" and liberal prizes were offered for contests on the diamond for both white and black teams.

Music, so essential to firing the patriotic heart, was arranged for, while the attractions of a balloon ascension were not overlooked.

A prize will also be offered for a firemen's contest.

Mayor Fishel did not overlook the greased pole, the source of more genuine amusement and hilarity than anything that was ever pulled off on the public square.

There will also be prizes offered for foot races and sack races, white and black, while the

Committees

On Transportation—John Dozier, of the Seaboard Air Line Ry., Ray Alworth, of the Plant System, and E. P. Thagard to represent the citizens; Mayor Fishel the city and Herbert C. Jones, the indispensable summer beverage.

On Finances—Mayor Fishel, Tullius E. Biggs and C. L. Bittinger.

Mayor Fishel was authorized to engage a balloonist and Postmaster Groves to see that there was no lack of free ice water around the square and on the baseball grounds.

On Program—Mayor Fishel, W. D. Carn and C. L. Bittinger.

It was the sense of the meeting that while the orators of the day illumined Freedom's heights with their glowing verbal pyrotechnics, no other exercises should interfere, so that all could come and listen and be enthused by their thrilling periods, as they descended on the virtues and history of this unparalleled nation.

Every interest was represented and the deep concern displayed by all present foreshadowed a Fourth of July celebration in Ocala that will be second to none of the glorious and enthusiastic gatherings of the past. In the meanwhile, let us get ready for the great day, and if any of our citizens have any new ideas they desire to give to assist the committee, they will accept them with thanks.

The new members added to the Board of Trade were W. D. Carn, M. Strauss, E. C. Smith, Simon Benjamin, W. K. Zewadski, J. M. Neely and R. R. Carroll. If there are others, the secretary would be pleased to hear from them, as this body has certainly done good service for the city's interests, and can be more effective in assisting in its material betterment in the future if all our merchants, business men and citizens will give it their countenance and support.

The Electric Lights

The electric light plant was informally discussed. All admit that it is a business proposition, pure and simple. The present plant is inadequate for the service demanded. Customers are refused every week because of the lack of power to supply the extra lighting. Besides, the present plant is deteriorating and any dark night the city may find itself without light. The plant belongs to the people. It is theirs to improve and with it the earning capacity of the same. The plant has demonstrated that it is a paying investment. Why not then make it more so and add to the city's revenue? To do this, however, will require more money. It is for the taxpayers to say whether they will enlarge its capacity, or better yet, get an entirely new plant to meet the requirements of the situation.

What taxpayer in business, in looking after his commercial interests, would hesitate for a moment to increase his capital to extend his business, if profitable, even if he had to borrow money to do so? If this is so in an individual case, why should not the city issue bonds to improve and increase the earning capacity of its electric light plant?

It was suggested that petitions be circulated in every ward to the taxpayers, presenting the undisputed facts of the condition of the plant and the need of increased power and have them sign said petitions to obligate themselves to come out on the day of election and vote for bonds to make this much needed public and profitable improvement. Here is an opportunity for those paying taxes to help themselves. Will they stand in their own light?

THE SOCIAL SIDE OF RELIGION

The Presbyterian social held yesterday afternoon at the cozy home of Mrs. G. S. Scott on Fort King avenue was one of the largest attended and most successful social functions enjoyed this season. A pleasing feature of the gathering was the large representation from other religious denominations.

The amusement that greatly promoted sociability was the rendering of the "musical romance" of "Ben Bolt" and "Sweet Alice." Delicious refreshments were served and the time passed delightfully. Mrs. Scott won many encomiums for the gracious manner in which she received and made all feel at home.

Such gatherings not only promote friendly and neighborly feelings, but widen the influence and effectiveness of church work.
